

KARI GARCIA

Certified Pilates Instructor, Tier II

Training Philosophy

The versatility of Pilates is what I love most, how the principles can help people from all walks of life in all phases of their lives move better and feel stronger.

For many years, I pushed my body too hard and developed multiple injuries. Pilates has helped me gain a deeper understanding of body awareness and improve the imbalances and injuries that I struggled with. I strongly believe in the value of a good warmup and how you move your body are some of the most important factors in a successful exercise routine.

My style is intuitive and focused, and I train my clients to a deeper awareness of movement and strength, moving beyond functional training and toward integration and awareness of the whole body. I look forward to meeting each client where they are, and creating a program that will guide them towards fulfilling their goals.
